MONTRÉAL

The Montreal YMCA is proud to participate in the 50th Anniversary of the Sir George Williams Alumni Association.

At the start of this century, the YMCA began the first evening educational programs for adults. This layed the groundwork for the establishment of the College, and eventually Sir George Williams University which bears the name of the founder of the YMCA movement.

It is with a sense of pride and solidarity that we congratulate the Alumni of Sir George Williams University.

All our best to an Association of alumni involved in the growth of the community.

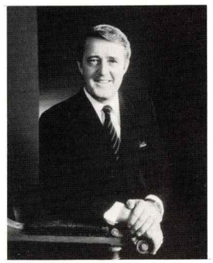
PRIME MINISTER · PREMIER MINISTRE

On behalf of the Government of Canada, I am delighted to extend my warmest greetings and best wishes to the members of Sir George Williams Association of Alumni on the occasion of their 50th Anniversary celebrations.

I trust that this celebration will be an opportunity to recall former classmates, to recount special anecdotes and to celebrate that special community spirit that so epitomized Sir George Williams College and subsequently, Sir George Williams University.

I hope that each of you find this special evening enjoyable and memorable.



Au nom du gouvernement du Canada, j'ai le plaisir d'adresser mes sincères salutations aux membres de l'Association des anciens de Sir George Williams à l'occasion du 50e anniversaire de fondation de cette association.

Les célébrations entourant cet événement offriront aux participants l'occasion de revoir leurs anciens compagnons de classe, de se remémorer des événements particulièrement intéressants et de recréer cet esprit communautaire qui a toujours caractérisé le Collège Sir George Williams et, plus tard, l'Université Sir George Williams.

Je souhaite à tous une soirée des plus agréables dont ils garderont, je l'espère, longtemps le souvenir.

MESSAGE DU PREMIER MINISTRE

On behalf of the Government of Québec, I am pleased to salute the Association of Alumni Sir George Williams on the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary.

Ever since its founding, Sir George Williams College has significantly contributed to Québec's quest of excellency in the field of education. Its graduates' achievements emphasize the quality of teaching and the high educational standards of this fine institution.

The members of this alumni will always bear in mind the good although demanding times they shared during their studies at Sir George Williams College.

My congratulations and best wishes to all the participants and to the members and Past-Presidents being honoured during tonight's celebration.

Au nom du gouvernement du Québec, j'ai le plaisir d'offrir mes salutations aux anciens du Collège Sir-George-Williams, à l'occasion du cinquantième anniversaire de leur association.

Depuis sa fondation, Sir-George-Williams a contribué considérablement à la recherche de l'excellence en matière d'éducation, au Québec. Les réalisations de ses diplômés démontrent bien la qualité de l'enseignement offert et le haut niveau des objectifs académiques de cette institution reconnue.

Les membres de l'Association se souviendront toujours, malgré les efforts constants, des bons moments qu'ils ont partagés durant leurs études au collège.

Toutes mes félicitations et mes meilleurs voeux aux participants, aux membres et aux anciens présidents que l'on honore en cette soirée.

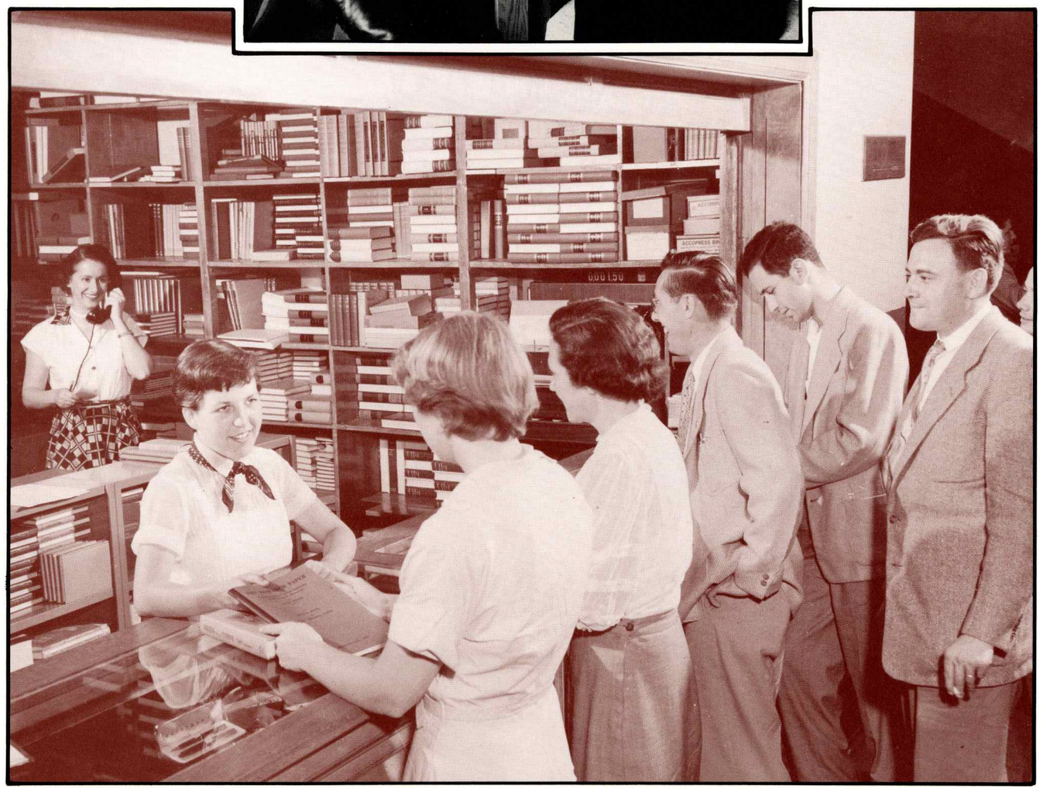
EDUCATION BY DEGREES – 50 YEARS ON

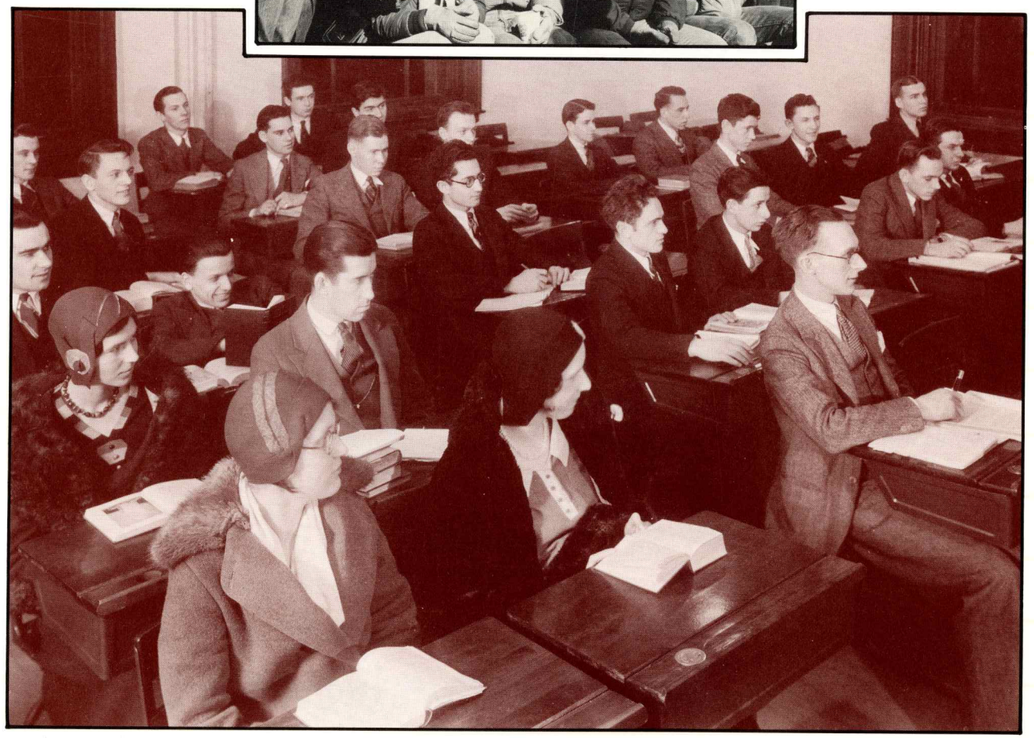
The first group of graduates from the YMCA's Sir George Williams College consisted of eleven people. (Degrees of Bachelor of Science were granted to two male students in June 1936. In the Spring of 1937 eight more men and one woman graduated.) These eleven graduates are known as the "Guinea Pig Class of 1937". Graduating classes in the 1980's total more than 300 times the 1937 class — a story of phenomenal growth.

The College grew to university status by hewing to the original concepts of its dedicated founders — to provide the opportunities for personal growth and leadership and a formal education to the widest possible spectrum of those who sought higher education.

Sir George achieved university status by virtue of those dedicated founders responding to existing and emerging needs, with faculties committed to excellence, an administration focused on efficiency, a loyal and highly motivated student body with an insatiable thirst for knowledge, an alumni/alumnae increasingly large and supportive, a business community willing and able to encourage an institution with such wide popular appeal... and the parents, families, friends and associates of all those constituencies.



With its policy of identifying and responding innovatively to community needs the institution's enrolments rose every year, student services and facilities increased, and faculty members provided a welcoming, competent and compassionate academic environment where informal and relaxed communication was and is a given.



At Sir George Williams College it became possible, from 1936 on, to earn a university degree by taking all the necessary courses in evening hours while being gainfully employed during the day. Men and women who, for one reason or another, might not have graduated from high school, could apply for admission to college level courses on the basis of their evaluated "mature matriculation".

The Armorial Bearings of
SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS UNIVERSITY

But a Sir George student absorbed more than a conventional college-level education. The institution's teachers and administrators shared a deep concern to encourage students to think for themselves – not in the sense of urging students to "do their own thing", but rather in the sense of avoiding action based on sudden impulses and avoiding judgments not based on reasonably sound evidence.

Following the graduation of the "Guinea Pig Class of 1937" events, large and small, moved quickly, spurred on especially by World War II and postwar developments. Some examples follow.

- In the late 1930's a curriculum of Engineering Studies was introduced.
- Regular courses began to be delivered in French.
- A Coat of Arms was adopted.
- A new Division, "the Claremont Division", was established to meet the needs of returning servicemen and women of the 1940's.
- On March 11, 1948 the Quebec Legislative Assembly granted university status to the College. It would now function in its own right separate from the YMCA.
- On April 6, 1956 Sir George opened its first new building, a wholly-owned property with thirty-two classrooms, ten laboratories and three art studios. Offices and student common rooms completed the occupancy of the building now known as the Kenneth E. Norris Building.
- Day and Evening classes burgeoned under pressure from returning war veterans.
- On December 18, 1959 Sir George Williams College became Sir George Williams University by Act of the Legislative Assembly.
- In May 1963 a Faculty of Engineering and a Board of Graduate Studies joined the existing Faculties of Arts, Science and Commerce.
- On October 14, 1965 the Henry F. Hall Building was formally opened. Enrolments soared, mainly due to "baby boomers" and a large influx of foreign students.
- In 1968 the Conservatory of Cinematographic Art was established through the initiative of the Chairman of the French Department and located on University premises.
- During the mid-60's a 6-week Special Summer Session began under the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. It was directed by professors world-renowned in their disciplines, many of them from foreign countries.
- In 1974 Sir George Williams University and Loyola College merged to become Concordia University.
- In 1983 a long-term Capital Campaign for $25 million was launched to fund improvements to existing facilities and to build new ones. The Campaign is still in progress.

These are some highlights of Concordia's growth which demonstrate its dynamism in the search for excellence. Concordia considers education to be a lifelong process, and has focused on people and their desire for more knowledge, skills and personal enrichment. As a result, Concordia has produced outstanding Canadian leaders in every walk of life and throughout the world.

This 50th Anniversary Year of the Founding of the Alumni Association of Sir George Williams is the time to celebrate — to celebrate the past and the present along with the high promise for the future.

The almost invisible structure of 1937 bears little resemblance to the present immense University of today which is completely independent of its parent. Yet there is a definite link between those who set the first invisible stones and those today who continue to build the invisible structure. 1937-1987 — Let's Celebrate!

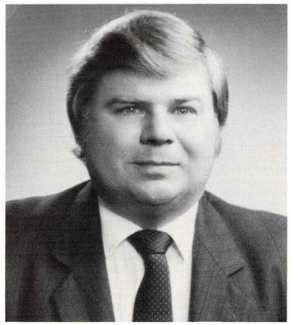
SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS INC.

Dear Friends,

It is indeed a great pleasure to honour our first graduating class, affectionately known as the "Guinea Pigs", as well as our dedicated Past-Presidents on this, our 50th Anniversary. I bid you a warm welcome, and extend to all the graduates and friends of Concordia University and its two founding institutions our sincere appreciation of your continued generous support.

More specifically I wish to thank our sponsors for their kind financial contributions. I would also like to thank those members of the Association who have unselfishly devoted so much time, effort, and energy to ensure the success of this event, including the publication of this souvenir programme book which I am sure will serve as a lasting memento of our first fifty years.

This anniversary represents more than the culmination of fifty years; it also marks the beginning of many more events and anniversaries we will celebrate and enjoy together.



Best wishes,
Gerald C. Burke
President

Chers Amis,

Pour notre cinquantième anniversaire, c'est avec un grand plaisir que nous rendons hommage à notre première classe de diplômés, affectueusement surnommés les "Guinea Pigs" (les "Cobayes"), ainsi qu'à tous nos anciens présidents.

Par la même occasion je souhaite à tous et à chacun une sincère et chaleureuse bienvenue à notre gala. Je tiens aussi à exprimer à tous nos diplômés et amis de l'Université Concordia ainsi qu'à ses deux établissements fondateurs notre profonde appréciation pour leur aimable et constant soutien.

Je désire tout particulièrement remercier nos commanditaires pour leur généreuse contribution financière. Mes remerciements s'adressent aussi aux membres de notre Association qui ont consacré temps et efforts afin d'assurer le succès de cet évènement. Sans oublier la publication de cette brochure commémorative qui vous servira, j'en suis sûr, comme un album-souvenir de nos premières cinquante années. Notre célébration représente plus que l'apogée de cinquante années. Elle marque le commencement d'autres activités et anniversaires que nous fêterons certainement ensemble.

Cordiales salutations,
Gérald C. Burke
